

England U20s 1 - South Korea U20s 1: Cauley Woodrow keeps England hopes alive

GARETH SOUTHGATE'S England face a nervy final group game in the Toulon tournament to qualify from the group stage after a 1-1 draw with South Korea.

Fulham youngster Cauley Woodrow was on target for England[GETTY]

Chanamin Lee's 55th-minute effort cancelled out Cauley Woodrow's early strike but the young Three Lions hopes of a victory were dashed for

By continuing to use the site, you agree to the use of cookies. You can find out more by following this link \(/cookie-policy\). Accept Cookies

After a 2-1 defeat to Brazil which ended their hopes of winning the tournament, Southgate's men now require a draw against Colombia tomorrow [Friday] to extend their stay in the south of France until the weekend with the prize a clash against either France or Portugal.

England U20s manager Southgate said: "Unfortunately we've played four games this summer and conceded sloppy goals in all of them. Some days that will cost you and it has tonight."