

England U20s 1 - Columbia U20s 1: Woodrow edges Southgate's team over the line

ENGLAND U20s limped over the line to qualify for the third and fourth placed play-off in Toulon last night when they drew 1-1 with Columbia.

Fulham striker Cauley Woodrow was England's hero again[GETTY]

But manager Gareth Southgate summed up his mood by admitting he was soaked by a sprinkler following the final whistle.

Fulham's Cauley Woodrow scored his second goal in three days to put the young Three Lions ahead before Jhoao Rodriguez equalised.

The draw allowed England to progress and face Portugal in Avignon tomorrow but Southgate, who was drenched while conducting a post-match interview, said: "I got hit by a sprinkler and that was the most entertaining part of the afternoon."