2014 Toulon Tournament final lead by a Jordanian refereeing team

من 31/05/2014 12:00:00

Jordanian refereeing trio Ahmad Yacoub and his assistant referees; Mahmoud Thaher and Abdulrahman Aqel will take charge of the 2014 Toulon tournament final, becoming the first Arab refereeing team to ever manage the Toulon Tournament's final.

The final match will take place on Sunday June 1st, 7:30 pm Amman Local Time in an encounter that will see hosts France playing against defending champions Brazil. And the match will be broadcasted live through Bein Sports' +8 channel.

Ahmad Yacoub who was awarded his international badge on January 1st 2014 was selected from a group of experienced FIFA referees coming from different countries such as Belgium, Brazil, Bulgaria, Chile, Colombia, Mexico and Portugal who all participated in the tournament.

It's an honor for the Jordan Football Association and its Refereeing Department to see 3 Jordanian officials being appointed to handle the tournament's final. The Jordanian refereeing team's participation in the Toulon Tournament is part of a refereeing cooperation agreement between UEFA and Jordan Football Association. French refereeing expert Michel Vautrot also praised the Jordanian referees performances and high level of professionalism in the 3 matches that they conducted at the Toulon tournament, and wished them more success and luck in the coming future.
